

Future Edinburgh

We've set an ambitious target for Edinburgh to be carbon neutral by 2030. We need to make the right choices for future generations. We want everyone in every community to benefit from the city's success, and make neighbourhoods great places for people to live in. We need to make radical changes to how we manage and develop our city through:

Choices for City Plan 2030

Sets out options for how we develop our city over the next ten years

City Mobility Plan

Proposes radical change to how people and goods move around our city.
