We want City Plan 2030 to require a mix of housing types and tenures – we want the plan to be prescriptive on the required mix, including the percentage requirement for family housing and support for the Private Rented Sector. Do you agree with this? - Yes / No

Short Response:

Explanation:

Choice 12 A

Which option do you support? - Option 1/2/3

Short Response:

Explanation
In supporting Option 1, there may be conflicts to be resolved between mixed use development at higher density than hitherto, possibly including employment sites where there could be environmental impacts on residents. This would have to be very firmly managed using other relevant LDP Policies. The numbers of required housing are stated as facts, but are still projections based on population movements, social changes and forecasts of economic and other activities. The supporting studies are well founded using established techniques. However it may be that the outcome of the 2021 census could produce factual data different from the assumptions made. This LDP in the August 2018 Scheme was forecast to be adopted in March 2021. In January 2020 the revised LDP Scheme forecast it to be adopted in February 2022, almost a year later. The impact of the corona crisis means a further unknown and substantial delay before the LDP can be adopted. We think it would be better now to delay adoption of City Plan 2030 until there has been time to take account of the trends shown by the March 2021 Census. This would produce a much more robust and reliable LDP which could command greater support. The present LDP would continue until the new one is ready and CEC should seek the consent of the Scottish Government if required for this change. Furthermore It is possible that the result of coming out of the current corona crisis will be lower economic activity and employment than expected for a long time. However in these circumstances the demand for affordable homes may be proportionately even greater and the need to meet this from public investment enhanced. We think we need to see what lower economic growth would look like as a further option in circumstances where there could still be a substantial need for affordable homes.

Explanation

A large proportion of former green belt and open space land in SE Edinburgh has already been lost to housing and so far the outcome has resulted in poor place-making. What remains of the Green Belt needs enhanced protection to ensure that it does not become further degraded thereby failing to fulfil its purpose and creating pressure for its development.
