We want to determine parking levels in development based on targets for trips by walking, cycling and public transport. These targets could be set by area, development type, or both and will be supported by other measures to control on-street parking. Do you agree with this? - Yes / No

Short Response

Explanation

- We will be needing more information specific to our business's location in the city in order to support the new plans or not. Most importantly, for the record we require unrestricted access to our building for staff and visitors, site technical trips, office stores and stock deliveries, taxis, equipment moving requirements, etc. This is for the period of council works as well as once the new plan is in place. We run events in the building for members of the public, international guests and often the elderly, so access by taxi is important.
- Our NLB staff come to the office from the Edinburgh city surrounds and less frequently from our other Scottish office bases in Oban, Orkney and the Shetlands. Changes in access to the central city may very well impact on their activities.
- We have a number of staff who live as far as Kinross as well as East, mid and West Lothian who travel in daily. Relatively simple journeys from home to Ferry Toll Park & Ride then a bus into Princes Street for some staff is already far from ideal. The busses are crowded, poorly serving those with mobility issues, queuing is often long and where there are problems with a service, communication with customers is often not available. Re-routed buses away from Princes Street to Haymarket, Lothian road or North Bridge with little to no notice can seriously hamper the daily activities of a person, and in winter it can be quite debilitating. Whilst the plan is very much outline the indications seem to be that changes will result in the bus service delivering to stops further away from our place of work, making it more difficult for those who have mobility issues. Many if not most staff also have laptop / equipment bag, handbag / lunchbag to carry, so it gets complicated.
- There are murmurs about potential pedestrianizing of George Street and / or removing the parking facilities. This will be of great concern, and lead to the restriction of access, impacting on our business and the services we offer. The removing of bus stops from Princes Street would not be well supported, as it will make the commute longer and more time consuming for many members of staff considering how they get to Princes Street as well.
- Regarding bicycles and zero carbon targets, for our family oriented and older staff members, it is not reasonable to expect us all to cycle to work. Many do not live within the city ringroad, plus many have children to drop at school, groceries to collect on the way home, or people they care for to drop in at on the way home. It cannot be assumed that everyone is in the personal position or bodily abled enough to use a bicycle.

• One item I cannot find covered is the condition of the roads in almost every corner of Edinburgh from Musselborough to Leith to Hermiston to Gilmerton to Cameron Toll to the centre. They are in a horrendous state with potholes, unmatched tar patches, bad to non-existent road markings and a danger to bicycles, prams, pedestrians and extensive damage to cars, delivery vans and busses. Purely the discomfort of being a passenger in a bus is real with the bouncing around, and the same pieces of road appear to be dug up multiple times in many cases. If this repair can be included in the plan going forward, as with the adaption of the roads for cycle and walking paths, any works to change the current condition should include the repair of roads, I expect.

- We support Mobility interchange hubs where alternative types of transport can merge such as train, tram and bus with car parking available. Many of our staff use multiple methods of transport to get to work daily, so changing from one to the other with more ease of access and payment type would be appreciated. From seeing only two of the current hubs, I would encourage good cover from bad weather to protect the commuters.
- Freight and distributions hubs are a good idea in theory, but the NLB hires vehicles when required for our technical trips to lighthouse sites. We have daily deliveries and collections from a vast selection of suppliers and courier companies, including the Post Office at both our front and rear buildings access points. Trying to formulate these into time windows and pockets will not be feasible or manageable as they do not originate from one area in the business. •Regarding the Zero Carbon target, we would request that the number of trees in the entire New Town increased substantially. This will help to counteract carbon emissions. Despite the homeless problem, I would also request seating as we have in Prices Street gardens. There are hundreds of office and shop workers who have nowhere to go for the lunch break other than back inside into shops and restaurants. This would be a healthier alternative for both the local and visiting populations. Princes Street is lovely, but dug up / inaccessible for large parts of the year due to Festivals, as well as being a tourist destination, so locals on a lunch break cannot always freely roam.
